President Carranza Is Killed in Fierce Battle in State of Puebla, Mexico

By the Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, May 22.—President Venustiano Carranza, who with a small party of followers has been fighting in the mountains of Puebla since last week, was killed at Tlaxcala, early Thursday morning, according to official announcement here. His companions, the names of whom are unknown, also were killed. General Rodolfo Herrerra, it is said, directed the attack. He belonged to forces commanded by General Mariel, who accompanied Carranza in his flight from this city, but who last week deserted Carranza and joined the revolutionists.

There is some uncertainty regarding the exact affiliation of General Herrerra. He was in rebellion against Carranza for several years, centering his operations in the state of Puebla. He surrendered last March to General Mariel, who was in command of government forces in that state.

When General Mariel went over to the revolutionists last week a portion of his troops it is known remained loyal to the president and the belief exists that Carranza might have taken him along with him in his flight Herrera's forces, which finally turned against him.

Tlaxcala Laponga is a small village in the northern "panhandle" of the state of Puebla. It is approximately 85 miles from San Andres, where Carranza left his forces and took refuge in the mountains.

The official announcement was given out at 10:30 o'clock last night from the headquarters of General Obregon.

Venustiano Carranza, elected president of Mexico March 11, 1917, by the largest vote ever cast in a presidential election in his country, stepped from political obscurity to national and international prominence on the graves of the hopes of Gen. Victoriano Huerta, the usurper, and his followers.

Simultaneously with General Huerta's coup d'etat and the assassination of President Madero, the news went out to the world that Gen. Venustiano Carranza, elected governor of the state of Coahuila in 1911, refused to recognize the usurper and would resist him by force of arms.

"Madero's revolution was political," Carranza is quoted as having said. "Mine is a social one."

Born of parents in comfortable circumstances in Cuatro Ciénegas, state of Coahuila, December 29, 1859, Venustiano Carranza was educated in the public schools of his native state and later studied law at the Mexican capital. When he was admitted to the bar, however, affection of the eyes prevented him from practicing and he returned to his native state to become a rancher. His experiences as a rancher, first, then as judge, senator and finally governor of Coahuila, made Carranza familiar with the agrarian problem, the root of political unrest in Mexico.

Having defied Huerta, Carranza rallied a small band of 600 followers which grew into a sizeable army when he won the support of Francisco Villa. Carranza's influence spread rapidly, the military victories of his chief aide, Villa, rallying the various factions of northern Mexico around his banner. For a time, however, real progress was slow. Huerta's machinations had embroiled Mexico with the United States and intervention seemed imminent. The killing of W. S. Benton, a British subject, by a staff officer of Villa, further complicated the situation.

Then came Villa's victory at Torreon, the first real success of the war. Carranza was pressing Huerta hard when the A B C conference to discuss the differences between the United States and Huerta was called in Buffalo. General Carranza refused to suspend hostilities and declined to abide by the result of those diplomatic negotiations. The fighting went on with the result that General Huerta resigned the provisional presidency July 15, 1914, and a month later General Carranza made his triumphal entry into Mexico City. Huerta in the meantime having fled to Spain.

Shortly afterward independent revolutionists led by Zapata, General Pascual Orozco and others commenced. Dissension between Villa and Carranza, which began at the Torreon conference, reached a climax September 23, 1914, when Villa declared war on Carranza. General Alvaro Obregon became Carranza's leading general.

The Villa generals met at Aguascalientes in November, 1914, and, in alliance with the Zapata faction, formed a Constitutional government. The capital changed hands several times and was not finally taken by General Obregon until the summer of 1915.

The beginning of the end of the Villa-Zapata party as a military power followed swiftly the heavy defeats of Villa by General Alvaro

Obregon. Villa was forced to give up Torreon and concentrate his dwindling forces in Northern Chihuahua and Eastern Sonora, making occasional forays and raids which culminated in the attack on Columbus, N. M., that resulted in the invasion of Mexican territory by General Pershing.

In the diplomatic exchanges that ensued between President Wilson and Carranza, who had been officially recognized as the head of the defacto government by the United States in October 1915, he insisted on the respect by the United States of Mexico's sovereignty and the concession to his government of reciprocal rights of invasion. He maintained his position despite the crisis caused by the clashes between Mexican and American soldiers at Parral and Carrizal, but when war seemed unavoidable Carranza succeeded in stemming the tide by his proposal for the appointment of a joint commission to settle the difficulties amicably. The proposal was accepted by President Wilson and the deliberations of the commission resulted in the withdrawal of the American army and the restoration of friendly relations between the two countries.

In the meantime Carranza had called a constitutional congress, which accepted most of the reforms he outlined. On March 11, 1917, he was elected president. More than 1,500,000 votes were cast for him. He took the oath of office May 1, 1917.

In a message to the Mexican congress following his inauguration as president, Carranza declared Mexico's "strict" neutrality. His note to neutral nations, however, urging them to declare embargoes against all the European belligerents, as a means of ending the war, and the warmth of his language in congratulating Emperor William on the occasion of his last birthday, aroused comment in the United States, as did also the publication of the Zimmerman note, inviting Mexico to take "by conquest" the states of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico in payment for a declaration of war on the United States acting in concert with Japan.

General Carranza was married and formerly lived in Saltillo. One of his daughters, Miss Virginia Carranza, became the wife of General Candido Aguilar.

Splendid Schools Heavy Rains and Grassy Crops South

Luther Harrison returned this morning from Durant and Wapanucka where he had been to attend the commencement exercises of different schools. He spoke at Durant on Wednesday and Thursday nights and at Wapanucka last night.

"All the schools I visited are in fine condition and had very interesting closing programs," said Mr. Harrison. The Normal at Durant graduated a splendid class of fifty. The Oklahoma Presbyterian college at Durant is a most promising junior college. A new dormitory to cost $100,000 is to be built this summer. Wapanucka has as fine a school spirit as I have seen anywhere in Oklahoma and is maintaining an exceptionally good school. They will build a high school building this summer. Work is to begin immediately on a new $100,000 building at the Durant normal."

Crop conditions are hardly so good in the counties to the south-east as they are in Pontotoc county. They have had more rain down there and some of the fields are very grassy just now. But the farmers are in the fields and ought to be out of grass in a few days. Everybody is busy everywhere and Oklahoma continues to improve all the time."

While they would not say upon whom their suspicion rested, they declare they were convinced that Bergdoll was aided in his escape.

Fine Talent Is Shown in Play Presented by the Graduates of Normal

As the curtain lifted on the East Central Senior play Thursday evening, one was suddenly carried into the realms of mythology. The attention of the large audience was caught at the very start and held throughout the performance. There was something different, something fascinatingly interesting about the play that commanded attention. A sort of weird feeling crept over the spectator at times.

To pick out stars of the cast would be to pick them all for each character performed his part in an excellent manner. A feature of the play was the Greek dances which were a large part of the acting. The dancers showed grace of movement and perfect poise as a result of much arduous training. The spotlight which was thrown on the stage almost continuously produced a very beautiful effect. The setting was in a woodland scene throughout and the profusion of natural decorations easily transported the minds of those in the audience to the forest green.

Never before in the history of the Normal school have the participants in a play known their parts better than they did on this occasion. Not a word was left out or a sentence misquoted as far as the audience could discern in any instance. Conscientious and continuous study certainly must have been given to the lines in the play in order for it to have been rendered so well.

Principal among the ancient dances was the faeries revel between the first and second acts. Others were the Greek dance (Ode to the Olympic Games); Helen Violette; Greek Maidens Playing Ball; and Pizzicati. Miss Clarice Cartwright delighted the audience with a vocal number between the second and third acts.

There were 10 principal actors in the play. Conn Roach as Endymion, a Prince, was a Prince Charming; Miss Eunice Bills as Phrynia with whom the prince was in love, played her part like a professional; Ralph Heard as Eumenides, the friend of the Prince and Miss Carrie Roach, the betrothed of Eumenides could not have been better. Two of the hardest characters to portray were Artemis, Goddess of the Chase, and Moon, and Hermes, a tricky messenger of the Gods. Miss Abbie Kitchens as Artemis had all the grace of a goddess and won the hearts of all. Miss Frances Campbell as Hermes proved to be an actress of exceptional merit and injected spirit into the play which did much toward making it a success. Miss Galen Oliphant as Queen Herminia and Oscar Parker as King Aeolus were fully up to the high standard set by the other members of the company. Robert Wimbush portrayed two characters in the play, that of Morpheus, the God of Sleep, and Pan, the ruler over the creatures of the forest. In the first character he gave such dramatic touch to the situation that it made profound impression on all his hearers. As the ruler of the forest he delighted the audience and conducted his program in masterly manner.

This play "Endymion" was conducted by Miss Anna Weaver Jones with Miss Johnny Anderson accompanist. Miss Jones showed in the play what is being done in East Central for the physical development of women, as well as for mental development. The play was a success from every viewpoint and it will long be remembered as one of the best senior programs in the history of the college.

MISSIONARIES WORK IN KOREA

WILL CHRISTIANIZE EVERY DISTRICT IN COUNTRY. GREAT GOOD ACCOMPLISHED THERE

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—American missionaries in Korea, despite the hardships and dangers incident to reconstruction following the quelling by the Japanese of the recent uprising, are planning to "Christianize every district in the country," according to the annual report of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions to the Presbyterian General Assembly, made public here today.

Referring to the revolt, the report says: "The result proved anew that Japan will not voluntarily grant Korean independence; that the Koreans cannot secure it by force and that other governments having long ago recognized Japanese annexation of the peninsula, will not interfere. Costly too, was the movement to the Japanese, for it re-inforced their critics disheartened their friends, alienated the sympathy of allied nations and brought upon the ruthless militarists the opprobrious name of 'the Huns of the Orient'."

Regarding the attitude of the American missionaries toward the Koreans' revolt against the Japanese, the report quotes Bishop Herbert Welch of the Methodist Episcopal church of Korea as saying: "It is no evidence of unfriendliness to the Japanese people that the missionaries became alienated in sympathy from the Japanese government but only a testimony to the deep humanity of their feelings and to an indignation against wrong doing which was worthy of all praise."

"There is a general disposition to give the new administration in Korea a fair chance to remedy the undoubted abuses that exist," continues the report. "Americans," it says, "should distinguish between the civil and military parties among the Japanese. The former is composed of enlightened and progressive men, who feel as we do about the outrages that have been committed in Korea. The latter includes a large number of men who are thoroughly Prussian in their temper and conduct."

"Americans, should bear in mind that there is a considerable element among the Japanese themselves who are greatly disturbed by the stern and iron-handed policy of the military party in dealing with the Koreans and who favor a wise and humane policy in dealing with them. It would be not only unwise but unjust to make indiscriminate condemnation of the whole Japanese nation."

Declaring that "China is in a state of chaos," the Board says "it has been gratifying to read the reassuring statements of several eminent Japanese as to the intentions of their government adding, however, that 'something more than words, however sincere is required to remove misgiving and distrust.'"

Greed and altruism, democracy and militarism, it says, are struggling for the mastery. During the past year, the report says, Chinese churches connected with the Presbyterian, Congregational, United Brethren and London Missions, have formed one organic Christian body. All other evangelical denominations have been invited to join.

Presbyterian foreign missionaries increased in 1919 from 1,364 to 1,428 and the native workers, from 6,806 to 6,856. In order to meet the high cost of living which in some fields like Japan, has increased over 300 per cent, the living allowances for the Presbyterian missionaries have been increased from the former standard of $1,250 a year to $1,500.

New methods of dealing with sedition is declared to have made mission activities in India more difficult. "All non-British subjects desiring to engage in philanthropic, educational, medical or missionary work being required to obtain a license." This was modified for the missionaries provided they declared due obedience and respect to the government and carefully abstained from political affairs. Reinforcements are called for "to check the growing power of Mohammedanism," in West Africa.

Normal Notes

Once again we look back over a year of school work and note over its record.

In recounting the year's history, One cannot fail to mention the seniors and, first of all, let us mention the Pesagi, or school year book. Few people, besides those who have had first hand experience in getting out an annual, realize just how much work there is to its production. The class this year has spared no expense of time, money and energy for making the Pesagi par excellence. The book will be ready for distribution soon. Oscar Parker is business manager this year and Frances Campbell is editor-in-chief. The other staff members have been equally devoted in their task of making the Pesagi. As a proof of good business management, the class will have a surplus fund of considerable amount which will be spent in placing a drinking fountain on the grounds.

Yesterday evening, at 1:30 o'clock the seniors enjoyed a luncheon at Mrs. Land's. Dr. Tolman, who gave the commencement address to the graduating class of the Normal was the guest of the occasion. Miss Jones, Sponsor of the class was presented with a wrist watch in token of her loyal services to the class. Most all are familiar with the changes to be made in the faculty. Miss Kellar will be on leave of absence this summer and will study in New York. Miss Kittell will also study in the same place. Dr. Bradford is quitting for good when this term is over. President Gordon does not know just how soon he will leave the school. He cannot go until he is formally released by the state board of education.

This was done last summer and more than two hundred girls took the course. The chapter executives realizing the importance of the course and knowing the interest that was manifested last summer are only too glad to have this opportunity for service.

Miss Laptan assured the local chapter that a very fine instructor would be sent to Ada, as they are anxious for the State normals to have the very best talent they have.

HAD SUFFERED SINCE CHILDHOOD; STATES PORTSMOUTH WOMAN

Weak, Nervous and Discouraged She Was On Verge of Giving Up—Could Hardly Eat or Sleep.

SAYS TANLAC BRO'T WONDERFUL CHANGE

Dyspepsia and Nervousness Things of the Past and She Feels Splendid Now, States Mrs. Dozier.

"I am so happy over what Tanlac has done for me that I want to talk about it all the time," was the enthusiastic statement made a few days ago by Mrs. C. E. Dozier of 1403 Prentice Avenue, Portsmouth, Va.

"I had suffered from indigestion ever since I was a child and I have taken medicine nearly all my life, but I was gradually growing worse each year until I began taking Tanlac. I was a confirmed dyspeptic and hardly a day passed that I was free from suffering.

Everything I ate seemed to lie heavy on my stomach and I would bloat up with gas something awful. I had the worst sort of pains around my heart and in my left side and at times I didn't think I could hold out under the strain. Even soup caused me to suffer and often I became so nauseated I could not retain a thing I had eaten. I had spells of dizziness and felt like I was going to faint and I would have to sit or lie down until I could recover. My nerves were badly unstrung and at night I was in such misery I could hardly get any sleep at all. My housework became burdensome and I got so weak and worn out I felt like I was ready to give up.

"About three weeks ago I began taking Tanlac and am feeling better than I have in many years and now for the first time since I was a child I can eat whatever I please and as much as I please without suffering any bad effects. The indigestion has left me altogether and I am no longer troubled with gas bloating or pains. My nerves are steady and I haven't had an attack of dizziness since I started taking Tanlac. I enjoy perfect rest every night and when I get up in the morning I am feeling so fine I can do my housework without tiring one bit."

Tanlac is sold in Ada by Gwin & Mays Drug Co., in Stonewall by L. F. Carpenter, in Francis by Francis Drug Co., and in Roff by Dowdy's Pharmacy. adv

WHAT WE HAVE SURRENDERED

The United States may not have thrown away everything won during the late war period, but at least one thing of tremendous importance has been thrown away, and that is the leadership this country had won over South America. The good will of the Latin republics has been forfeited, trade advantages have been surrendered, and the voice of the United States, stating the case of our southern sisters, has been silenced in the courts of the world.

When the United States by its senate refused to take a seat in the council hall of the league of nations that seat was promptly taken by Brazil. That giant republic of the Southern Cross is speaking today for the nations we abandoned. She is arranging the trade agreements that will control the currents of South American commerce for a half century. She becomes the nucleus about which a dozen rich and prosperous nations will range themselves, with no confidence in the United States or connection with the United States. The greatest untapped trade reservoir on earth is closed to this nation.

Deliberately and with full knowledge of the consequence we have thrown away the richest commercial prize our country ever won. As a matter of choice we have surrendered an advantage that promised a measure of prosperity to every toiler beneath our flag. Knowing that our future welfare depends on the maintenance of foreign markets, that the best markets awaiting development are those below the canal, that those markets were largely ours by right of every advantage, we have sacrificed those markets, surrendered those advantages and struck a blow of lasting moment against the material interests of every American citizen. At the same time we have invited the risk of converting an entire continent of friends into a continent of enemies. We have established that "magnificent isolation" of which our partisans have dreamed, but we stand in the isolation of open contempt and universal enmity.

So far as Pontotoc County is concerned the net results of national prohibition is that we have five times as much booze as we had three years ago at ten times the price.

Thus far Joe Tumulty has shown deep respect for American traditions by failing to announce his candidacy for a third term.

A Creed for the Dismayed

I believe, therefore I affirm—
When God made me he made me to be true and useful and happy.

If I am to be true I must regard the ills that befall me as so much discipline of my spiritual self; I must believe that the perils through which I pass must "work out a far more exceeding and external weight of glory."

If I am to be useful each fiery test must strengthen my character and ennoble my life, suffering must make me worthy, and experience must make me wise and able to help my fellows.

If I am to be happy I must not waste my days with repinings or my strength with useless regrets. I must face the future bravely. I must have a calm intellect and a spirit of optimism.

I believe, therefore I affirm—
If God made me a quickening spirit he made that spirit to be the master of my fate.

Therefore my soul shall not be crushed by failure nor ruined by disaster, for circumstances shall be my slave and not my lord.

When disappointments come I will rise above them. They shall be as stones beneath my feet.

And my failures shall give me wisdom, so that out of sore defects I shall win a victory, rising on the stepping stones of my dead self to higher things.

I believe, therefore I affirm—
God gives no yesterdays. He gives only the best. He gives tomorrows.

Then shall I face tomorrow's new opportunities with new courage and new hope. And, though the clouds may lower, I shall be sure that in his wonted place will be the sun, rejoicing as a strong man to run his race.

Tomorrow and tomorrow I shall do my best and there-with be content. I shall save myself the weakness of worry.

Tomorrow I shall make no regrets of today, and I will not dissipate my soul with fears.

Tomorrow I will assert my birthright as a son of the Infinite.

I will go my way and be a man.

For I am an immortal soul, and nothing in all God's universe can hurt me.

Missouri Has Twins
84 Years of Age
With Fine Record

In the News yesterday an article was printed about the famous Missouri twins, L. C. and E. T. Bibb. It was stated that Mr. J. C. Lehr of Ada knew the men and is one of their good friends.

Today Mr. Lee Huber of Ada brought to the News office a copy of the Hannibal (Mo.) Post of April 15th. This paper carried the original story about these men, with their photographs. This article is reprinted in full below. The reason Mr. Huber is so interested in the story is that Mr. L. C. Bibb is his wife's father. The article follows:

Hannibal has a pair of twins 84 years old, with a record for church and Sunday school service that is without a parallel. The twins are L. C. and E. T. Bibb, who have been attendants of the Baptist church and Sunday school for three-quarters of a century. They have not only had their names on the church and Sunday school roster as members, but have been constant in their attendance and today, although they have passed the four score year mark in life, their health is good and from present indications they will be spared for many more years' service in the Master's kingdom.

They have been members of the church for 68 years, having professed faith in Christ and united with the church in Virginia. For 15 years L. C. Bibb has attended Sunday school every Sunday and for 30 years he has failed in attendance only on two Sundays, and these were on account of sickness. They are members of Fifth Street Baptist church, and their pews are seldom if ever vacant. L. C. Bibb is a member of the board of deacons of this church.

These splendid Christian men also break another record in the fact that they are the sons of Rev. W. H. Bibb, one of the ablest of the pioneer Baptist ministers of north-east Missouri. They come of that sturdy Virginia stock, having been born in that state May 29, 1836. They grew to young manhood in Virginia, leaving there with their parents in 1856 and locating in central Iowa, near Marshalltown. After spending two years in Iowa, L. C. Bibb located in Pike county, Missouri, on a farm near Clarksville. He remained there for a few years, he moved to Bowling Green in the same county, where he lived for 17 years. He located in Hannibal in 1904. E. T. Bibb has spent the greater portion of his life in Iowa. He came to Hannibal in 1917 and makes his home with his brother at 1214 Lyon street.

L. C. Bibb was united in marriage to Miss Mary E. Mitchell of Lincoln county, Missouri, who with her husband has grown old in the service of the Lord. To this union five children were born: Arthur and Lofton of Hannibal, Mrs. Lee Huber of Ada, Okla., Mrs. Blanche Whitman, Ardmore, Okla., and Mrs. Addie Dameron of Hannibal.

E. T. Bibb's wife died several years ago. He has four living children: Arthur of St. Louis, Byron of Seattle, Wash., Harry and Miss Carrie of Chicago.

It is not believed that there is a pair of twins throughout the length and breadth of the country that has such a splendid record for church service as the Bibb twins.

On the 29th of May the twins will celebrate their 84th birthday anniversary.

Gang of Burglars
Are Rounded Up
By Local Officers

With the arrest yesterday of two negroes at Okmulgee and one at Chandler the local peace officers believe that the entire gang of burglars who broke into Shaw's Department Store at Ada on the night of May 8 has now been captured. James Solomon was arrested in Okmulgee several days ago. Albert Sanderson and Albert Barnes were arrested yesterday in Okmulgee, while Geoffrey Wilder was apprehended in Chandler.

Sheriff Duncan came in last night from Okmulgee with Sanderson and Barnes, while Walter Goynes brought in Wilder. Sanderson is a negro barber in Okmulgee and is charged with receiving and selling the goods stolen by the gang. After the arrest of Solomon he told the officers that the stolen property had been taken to a negro barber in Okmulgee, and when the officers searched Sanderson's premises they found five silk dresses and two bolts of silk which were identified as goods from the Shaw store. The articles still contained the Shaw cards.

The officers of Pontotoc county have been diligent in running down this gang of thieves and have had the loyal cooperation of sheriff Henry Tucker of Okmulgee and sheriff Sam Turner of Holdenville. The boys from Ada also praise the work of Ben Mayes, the negro deputy sheriff at Okmulgee, who rendered valuable aid in working among Okmulgee's negro population. Altogether the several officers have recovered of the stolen property seventeen silk dresses, two grips and one hand bag. Most of the dresses had been sold to negro women of Okmulgee.

At the same time the officers were looking for the gang that perpetrated the Ada burglary they were after another gang or a part of the same gang that had burglarized the Simpson Store at Wetumka. For this latter offense four negroes are in the county jail at Holdenville and are said to have confessed to the Wetumka burglary.

James Solomon, the first negro brought to Ada, has admitted his guilt and implicated the other negroes. He says that his home is at Hubbard City, Texas. Albert Barnes says he is from St. Paul, Minnesota, while Geoffrey Wilder claims to be from Oklahoma City. The officers claim to have an air tight case against all the accused and believe that they have rid the country of a most troublesome gang.

GENERAL WOOD IN LEAD IN OREGON

Picture Houses Slow Pay.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, May 22.—Internal revenue collectors were instructed today to begin a campaign to force the payment of admission taxes collected by theatres and moving picture houses. ## Cotton Market

(As furnished by Ada Cotton Exchange.)

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 22.—More favorable weather in the interior the past week and liquidation influenced by the strained financial situation and the price cutting wave sweeping the country, depressed speculative values to a level that makes further short selling inadvisable unless climatic conditions continue to remain favorable in the interior, in which case crop accounts would likely show improvement. The feeling in Wall Street is less pessimistic in anticipation of better bank statements, the recovery in Liberty Bonds, and because of the impression that the soldier's bonus bill will be defeated or vetoed in order to prevent further taxation. Bankers and Merchants warn the public against expecting too much in the way of price reductions just now, and it is probable, since buying by the masses has increased because of lower prices for wearing apparel that stocks of goods will be reduced materially, with the removal of the surplus stocks of cotton goods from points of distribution, values for the manufactured product are likely to be stabilized, which will probably put spinners and jobbers in a stronger position eventually. From all accounts the reduction in prices for the finished product are justified since merchants and manufacturers were reported as reaping a harvest at the expense of the people, and in the interest of the masses and trade expansion, making money obtainable for commercial purposes, as did the extensive selling of millions of Liberty Bonds, instead of drawing funds from banks, which was the object of resorting to restrictions in loans and loan extensions. Meanwhile French and German government securities have experienced a sharp advance of late, further large imports of gold from London are expected and the peak of high interest rates seems to have been reached.

"The Crisis" is Wonderful.

The Lincoln week observances in the motion picture theaters in Times Square brought the character of the Great Emancipator graphically before the eyes of the throngs which filled four of the picture houses on Broadway. "The Crisis," which was transferred to the Rialto after being shown at the Rivoli, is strongly influenced by the spirit of Lincoln all through the story, although the man himself appears only in a few short scenes. In "The Land of Opportunity," he is the central figure. The supposed incident in his life is told with Ralph Ince as the Martyr President and told with deep feeling and fine simplicity.—Public Opinion.

Around Town

The Daily Rounds of a Reporter—told by Himself.

Banks are great institutions. They are evidently the starting of many things—thus the foundation of this episode.

The Merchants & Planters bank is a very good institution. They will handle all your business, treat you nice, and take care of your cash, that is if you have any. Some times we have a little cash and then vice versa.

G. W. Taylor, the cashier of this bank, is a good scout. Taylor went over to Oklahoma City just a few days ago to attend the State Bankers convention and says he has just about recovered from the trip. Of course I couldn't say what he did while in the city but, P. S. Case, the president of this bank, accompanied Taylor. Two is company and three is too many.

Being interested in the goods market I stepped into the Dunlap Store to investigate as to whether or not the market had taken a slump. Could not find a trace of a reduction committee, but Mr. McKendree the manager of this store stated that he thought something would happen in a few days.

Bought a handkerchief (as I didn't have one) some candy, told them about Gentry Bros. shows that will be here on June 1st. Made a "spiel" about the show, as I figure on a "comp" ticket from the management.

A little girl was listening very attentively to my talk and when I had finished she asked:

"Mister, what part of the show do you play?" and looked me over. This was too much—my face naturally changed its color and I was due at the office anyway.

Wackers Variety store is a place of variations. People, goods and everything.

The girl in there tried to sell me a doll. Imagine it.

"I am not married no children to give this doll to," I informed her.

"Why aren't you married?" she asked.

"The opportunity has only presented itself one time in my life and I was too slow to grasp it," I replied.

"Well, if you ever get the opportunity again, take advantage of it, and remember we can sell the dolls and everything," the young lady stated.

Just happened to think that this is leap year, and had better "va-moo." In Spanish meaning (to go) I strolled into the Stall Studio.

It's a place where you sit down in a big chair (or you stand up if you like), brush your hair back and look wise. The operator of the photo machine points it right square in your face and pulls the trigger, and imagine the result—yourself printed on a piece of paper.

Didn't have a picture made but think I will next spring, along about garden time.

Mr. Stall, the owner, was not in when I called but his secretary was. I like secretaries. They are interesting. I told her I would call again soon.

Went downstairs and noticed a crowd of young ladies admiring some of the photo specimens in front of the building and casually ante up to catch the drift of the conversation.

"Oh, isn't he wonderful?" one young lady remarked.

Didn't know whether or not they were talking about me, so I moved in a little closer, and found out that they were only referring to a photo of a soldier. Gosh, but don't I wish I was dressed up in a uniform for a few minutes.

You can travel around this old globe of ours, but there is a Globe in Ada that can't be circled. Have to front it all the way. A big sign in front of this popular store read like this: "Sale On." Don't know whether they meant "sail on," or that there was a sale within. Anyway, I went in to see what was really going on. Found a lot of people in there, some buying goods and a few like myself—just in there for curiosity.

Had Col. U. G. Worriorow of the United States recruiting service with me when I visited the Moser store. Couldn't act very bad around him. He knew my old regimental commander and I wanted to play "military," especially around colonels. We talked to Mr. Moser about business, politics, religion and a little of everything else. And by the way, Mr. Moser informed me that the chamber of commerce would have a smoker in a few days. I'm for smokers and the colonel said he always accepted an invitation to these affairs.

I ditched the colonel as we came out, told him I would call at the station for him about 3 p. m.

Stepped in the Help Yourself Grocery. Really I thought that you could go in there and get what you wanted and it would be O. K. I tried it. Reached in the candy case and got a bar of Hershey's chocolate and started out just as I went thru the little gate in the store the fellow in charge sopped me.

"Did you get anything?" he asked.

"You bet, a bar of candy" I replied.

"10c" he demanded.

I see the point, help your self and pay the bill as you go out.

Was down in the Stanfield grocery for a while to see if any news would happen around at that place. Yes, I found a little news item. Had been talking to Carl Stanfield for a few moments when Cal Harbert, a good substantial customer of this firm, came in.

"Have you any asparagus?" he asked.

"Just out, but we will have a few in tomorrow" replied Mr. Stanfield.

"What have you anyway?" the customer asked.

"Oh, we have a keg of very dainty pig feet, how many do you want?" he stated in a joking manner.

"Old-timer I will be around to get the asparagus tomorrow and be sure to save me a bunch, and for get the pig-feet."

Lots of weddings have occurred lately so I drifted down to the Levin Furniture store to see if I could find any "newly-weds" purchasing their first.

Was just a few minutes too late to catch a couple.

Heard a voice in the rear of the building singing a song which sounded like this:

"A man that was born without any horns, Must have been a furniture man."

The fellow that owns the copy-right on that little ballad is Dan Newton, a genial salesman of the store.

paper about me" he asked.

"Don't you put anything in the paper about me."

I am obeying his wishes.

Hays School Had Exhibit Day and Program Yesterday

Friday afternoon the patrons of Hays school spent a very pleasant afternoon inspecting the exhibits of the different rooms showing the progress of the students for the past year.

Several rooms were lined with specimen of individual work showing excellent progress in language, mathematics, art and science.

Too much cannot be said in praise of the excellent spirit of these pupils and of the untiring effort of the good teachers who have watched over them so carefully.

Nothing but praise and favorable comment could be heard among the many patrons in attendance.

The Mother's club was on hand in good mother fashion with refreshments called punch, good iced punch, which added much happiness to the occasion and created unlimited merriment for students.

After rounds of inspection many visitors attended the beautiful program rendered by the Excelsior Society of the A-Sixth Grade. Consisting of a short play, excellent readings, songs and a society paper.

SUIT BOUGHT NOW WILL DO FOR FALL

By Eloise.

The careful buyer is watching closely now for the sale of spring suits. She will buy a smart suit, rather plain and conservative in design and rather heavier than most, and she will use it for traveling this summer and later she will make it do for her fall suit. The woman who can buy this way is able to dress smartly even in these days of prohibitive prices. If she has a little money on hand she may always take advantage of sale prices which mean a great saving in the end. It is always a rather delicate subject, though, that one of urging women to take advantage of sales, for women are usually accused of indulging in too many "bargain rushes." The wise woman, however, who watches the sales and buys carefully at all times, never buys things she does not need, and now of all just that thing. Buy what you actually need and no more.

So for the women who actually need a suit, this one which was seen in one of the recent suit sales is an admirable model. It is one of those semi-dress suits which can do such great service in the wardrobe of the business woman or the woman who travels. It is made of navy blue tricot with a straight, plain skirt and a much embroidered bodice. The embroidery is in sand and blue and there is just enough to take away the severe look and not too much to make it seem ornate. This suit will be a great comfort for the summer traveler and it will be more than valuable when next fall arrives and with it the need for added warmth and an every-day outfit.

BISHOP WORKS AN OILER ON FREIGHT STEAMER

By the Associated Press
DES MOINES, Iowa, May 22.—Bishop Frank W. Warne of India had to work his way across the Atlantic ocean as a common laborer in order to get to Des Moines for the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. He arrived about a week late, but is here.

Telling of his experiences, Bishop Warne said it was a case of "putting on a pair of overalls and doing a little work, or not coming to the conference at all." From Mesopotamia to Port Said he rode on an oil boat. On the way to Port Said the captain sent a wireless message asking for passengers to America. The only answer came from a trans- steamer and that was conditioned on the "passenger" working his way.

"Bishop accepts the job," was the answer. At Port Said Bishop Warne boarded the freighter, was given an oil can, sent to the engine room and kept busy oiling from morning until night all the way across the Atlantic.

COAL DUST LODGED IN MINER'S LUNGS

Tells how his cough was conquered and health restored.

"In November, 1916, I was working in a coal mine and the doctors said the coal dust had settled in my lungs. I couldn't lie down on my right side, coughed so I couldn't sleep and had constant pain in my right lung and under my shoulder blades. I coughed so hard the blood would spurt out of my nose. Finally the doctors had me change climate and live outdoors, but didn't improve."

"Then I came home and started on Milks Emulsion. Thank God, I did, as it did me a lot of good right from the start, loosening up the coal dust in my right lung. In a few weeks my lungs were free. I could sleep like a baby, had an excellent appetite and my cough left me entirely. I gained back 30 pounds in weight and went back to work in the mines completely restored to health."

Hays School Is Doing Good Work In All Lines

Friday afternoon from 2:30 to 4:00, the Mother's Club of the Hays school gave a reception to the patrons of that school. The patrons had an opportunity of gaining first hand information about their children in school. Each teacher was in her room and met the patrons at the door and showed them through the room.

The walls of the various rooms were decorated with school exhibits representing all types of work done in the building. The exhibits were well arranged and gave concrete proof of the fact that the students have been doing good work. This work will still be on exhibit Monday morning and those who did not see it are invited to visit it then.

Refreshments were served the patrons but the Mother's Club, and a free will offering was taken to help purchase a piano for the school. A considerable sum was raised.

Plans are under way for a bigger and better Hays school. The Mother's Club have several plans for next year, one of which is to plant bermuda grass around the building. More occasions like the one of Friday afternoon will result in the uplift of the schools.

When an energetic hard-working man feels unduly tired, half-sick, "blue" discouraged, he thinks he is getting lazy. It isn't laziness, the trouble is in the stomach and bowels; they are disordered. For the Benefit of Nuts. The people of Ada have taken on a new hobby lately—this of keeping squirrels for pets.

And the strange part of the thing is that more of the squirrels are on exhibition in the business section than in the homes. So the question naturally arises, why do they want the squirrels?

Many answer the question by saying that the squirrels are kept for the benefit of nuts that go passing by. Whether this is true or not the fact remains that the pets are seen in many sections of the city of Ada.

At any rate "Safety First" is a good slogan to work by.

Presbyterian Plan to Evangelize Jews
By the Associated Press
PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—An effort to evangelize Jewish people in Newark, N. J., Baltimore, Md., Brooklyn, N. Y., and this city is being made by the Presbyterian board of home missions, according to its annual report read here today before the Presbyterian general assembly. The report, which was presented by Secretary H. N. Morse, said the year closed with "much financial perplexity but great spiritual advance." The board, it was said, projected a budget on the basis of a certain anticipation through the New Era movement "which the facts have not justified." Total receipts, exclusive of legacies and applicable to current work were said to be $378,622 and expenditures for the year were $1,219,223, leaving a net deficit of $240,000 which, added to the debt the board faced on January 1, 1920, makes the total debt $479,228.

The Norman Howard post No. 76 of the American Legion held their regular meeting last night at the city hall, with 25 members present. Plans for the minstrel show and athletic exhibitions were discussed and committees appointed to look after these features. It was voted to admit only the personal friends of members of this organization to the athletic stunts to be held in the near future. The main topic of discussion of the evening was of the membership drive which is now being conducted over the entire state. Plans for the campaign for this county were arranged and the following men were appointed as captains of membership teams, and they are to select five men each for the groups: Joe Allen, John Craig, Carl Littlefield, Lowery Harreld, Clarence West and Sam Schienberg. Boxes placed in the local business houses throughout the city have proved very successful and many new members have been added to this post. It was the spirit of the meeting that it is the duty of every ex-serviceman to become a member of the American Legion which is now encouraging legislation that will benefit all returned soldiers. Bass, who left his home in Chicago in 1911 and in which time nothing has been heard from him. The father in pleading for assistance to find his son says that it is in feverish hopes that his son will read this notice sent to several cities where it was believed he could be located and in his pleadings he asks that his son write to him before it is too late.
